Acknowledgements

In compiling this study I have drawn freely on the work of other collectors and researchers who, over the years, have been interested in the King George V 1935 Jubilee Issue of Postage Stamps. In particular I must acknowledge the work of George Greenhill and his pioneer publication on the various Perfins found on the issue, and Jeff Turnbull who produced a second edition and numerous updates in the Perfin Society Bulletin, the last one being February 2007.

The details within this document have been taken from the ‘New Illustrated Catalogue of Great British Perfins’ published in parts by the Perfin Society, along with unpublished details sent in to the Catalogue Editor by collectors over the years. While it is not now possible to acknowledge by name every contributor to the study before 2007, those I know of are:

Gunnar Beck, Terry Comper, Ken Dee, Ian Hamill, Peter Peniket, H Schriek, Rosemary Smith, Peter Thorneloe, and Alastair Walter.

I must also acknowledge the following who have submitted new ‘Silver Jubilee’ details to the Catalogue Editor since 2007:

Tony Ainscough, David Andersen, Gunnar Beck, Finn Binderkrantz, Kim Bjarnt, Jack Brandt,
Terry Comper, Melvyn Green, Nigel Hall, Ian Hamill, Maurice Harp, Mike Hemsall,
Keith Kimber, Joe Laura, Peter Maybury, Ron Mills, Steve Netten, Kurt Ottenheimer,
Rosemary Smith, Richard Smolnicki, Villy Sorensen, Gerry Soutar, Stephen Steere, Bob Szymanski, Jeff Turnbull, Terry Wood, Barrie Williamson, and Stefan Wrammefors.

Special mention goes to Ron Mills who also helped compile the ‘orientations study’.

My sincere thanks go to Grosvenor Auctions for kindly allowing me to use images of KGV 1935 Jubilee stamps and associated material from their website, and to the Post Office Archives for making the relevant material available for research on the Internet.

This study is dedicated to the late Terry Wood.

Introduction.

The idea of producing a set of commemorative postage stamps to mark the Silver Jubilee of King George V's reign came originally from the Colonial Office. It also came to the Post Office authorities with the suggestion that an identical set should be issued throughout the Empire. Although the Post Office was initially unsupportive, the Director of Postal Services eventually agreed and in June 1934 it was decided that four values should be issued, and that a small number of artists would be invited to submit designs.

At the end of July 1934 a list of instructions was prepared for the artists to work to.

- Four face values ½d, 1d, 1½d, and 2½d, in colours close to those used in the equivalent definitives.
- Dimensions of the design are to be 1.3 inches high and 1.1 inches wide, as shown by the essay on the right.
- Design to include a space for the King's head, and the words '1910-1935', 'Silver Jubilee', and 'Postage'. It appears that 'Revenue' was not compulsory.

A decision was also made that the stamps were to be printed in photogravure, which would be the first time the process had been used for a commemorative issue. As the process reproduces the design in a series of graduated tones, the designs were to be produced in shades of grey.

The following artists were invited to submit designs for one value, and if selected, produce designs for the full set. The deadline for submission was 17th September 1934.

Edmund Dulac, Harold Fleury (Waterlow & Sons), Leonard D Fryer (Waterlow & Sons),
C Hayden (Harrison & Sons), MacDonald Gill, Ernest Linzell (Bradbury, Wilkinson), Harold Nelson, Rex Whistler, and Stephen Gooden.

Although Stephen Gooden did not submit a design (on the grounds that stamps printed in photogravure were 'cheap and nasty'), thirteen designs were submitted for selection by late September. All, however, were rejected, and a second group of artists were invited to submit designs before a new deadline set at the end of October 1934. The guidelines were as before, although they could now submit designs in another size.

Barnett Freedman, John Farleigh, Norman Howard, Trevor Morris,
S Kennedy North, and F J Sharman.

F J Sharman did not submit a design, but Rex Whistler, who missed the deadline for the first group, was included in this second group, along with submissions in the new size from all the artists invited in the first group. In all, thirty-seven designs were submitted, from which the successful design was chosen - that of Barnett Freedman.

Barnett Freedman (1901-1959).

Born in Stepney in the east end of London, Barnett Freedman was a painter, lithographer, book cover and book illustrator, poster designer, WWII war artist, teacher, and after the war a television and radio personality. He was awarded a CBE in 1947 in recognition of his work.

Before the 'adopted' design is discussed in a little more detail, it's perhaps worthwhile looking at a selection of the 'unadopted' designs.

Artists designs.

C Hayden.

C Hayden, who worked for Harrison & Sons, submitted five designs, one of which (the 1½d shown above) seems to be ahead of its time. There is a remarkable similarity between the 1½d essay above and the issued design for King Edward VIII introduced in September 1936.

Stanley Kennedy North (1887-1942).

Stanley Kennedy North was a painter, illustrator, and stained glass artist. He took on the Kennedy portion of his name when he married Helen Dorothy Kennedy (1889-1975).

Edmund Dulac (1882-1953).

Two bromides, one 190x110mm - signed Edmund Dulac, the other 242x233mm. The central feature of the King's head in a hexagonal shape was later used by Edmund Dulac in his design for the 7d to 1/- definitives of King George VI.

Ernest Linzell (1869-1951).

Ernest Linzell, born in Tottenham, was a lithographic artist by training. Working for Bradbury Wilkinson at the time, he submitted two designs. His invitation was by virtue of his successful design for the 1929 Postal Union Congress which was used on the 1d and 1½d values.

The adopted design.

The decision to declare Barnett Freedman the winner of the selection process was made on the 25th October 1934 on the grounds that it was the 'only one likely to produce an acceptable postage stamp'. Freedman worked with the printers, Harrison & Sons, to produce colour essays incorporating the suggested minor changes, and also incorporate the King's head. Essays were delivered to the Post Office in November 1934 in three sizes, three using the 'Vandyke' portrait of the King, and a fourth using the 'Mackennal' head.

The King approved the Mackennal head, although a slightly smaller version was requested, and the size was agreed as the rectangular type 'B'. And so, with a few minor alterations, the Silver Jubilee set was born.

The four stamps differ slightly from one another in a number of ways, for example the vertical 'columns' flanking the King's head, and the emblem placed within the right-hand panel.

- 1/2d - an oak sprig across an olive wreath.
- 1d - upright oak leaves flanking the King's head, and a laurel sprig across the wreath.
- 1 1/2d - an olive wreath.
- 2 1/2d - stylised laurel leaves flanking the King's head, and crossed sprigs of laurel.

Barnett Freedman deliberately used Laurel to symbolise Triumph and Reward, Olive for Peace and Goodwill, and Oak to imply Strength and Stability.

Stamps of all four denominations were printed in sheets of 120 (20 rows of six), along with two booklets which also contained advertisements. The 2/- booklet contained 12 @ 1 1/2d, 4 @ 1d, and 4 @ 1/2d, whereas the 3/- booklet contained and extra 8 @ 1 1/2d stamps. All booklet stamps were in panes of four.

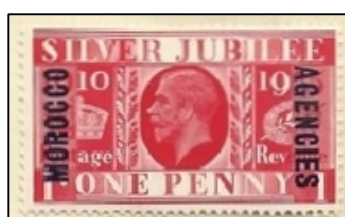

Harrison & Sons printed special sheets of stamps for the booklets. The sheet stamps were all Type I, but Types II and III were used specifically for the booklets. Subtle shading and line thicknesses help differentiate the three types for the specialised philatelist. However, the booklets are unlikely to have been used for Perfins.

Barnett Freedman also designed the cover for the stamp booklets, for which there were eleven separate issues: the 2/- booklet N^{os}.298-304, and the 3/- booklet N^{os}.294-297. {The following illustrations are 67% Full Size, but still show the essential details clearly}.

Images courtesy of Grosvenor Auctions.

All four values were overprinted 'MOROCCO AGENCIES' for use in offices in Morocco, and the three lower values were overprinted with 'TANGIER' for use in Tangier - typical examples shown below. Offices not dealing in British currency were also overprinted with equivalent values in centimos or centimes as appropriate.

Two different Perfins are known on the Morocco Agencies overprint, and one on the Tangier, but only the "BEM", a single headed die, has so far been confirmed.

A 1935 Jubilee stamp not likely to have been Perfinned is the 2½d Prussian Blue. Harrisons printed a 'considerable number' in the Prussian Blue shade, and although the idea was abandoned, three sheets were dispatched to Upper Edmonton Post Office and were all sold.

A final footnote.

Although the Post Office waxed lyrical about the issue, the philatelic press and the general public were less enthusiastic, generally regarding them as 'cheap looking' and 'disappointing'. Perhaps Stephen Gooden was right after all. You will all, no doubt, have your own view on the merits of the issue, but for me I'd be searching for Ernest Linzell's telephone number!

Perfin orientation study.

Often, a little more information regarding the composition of a Perfin die, i.e. the number of perforating heads involved, can be gleaned from large format stamps such as the 1935 Jubilee issue of King George V. If the die is single headed then, in the interest of economy of effort, it would be reasonable to expect a single pattern to appear on the stamp, probably placed more or less in the centre.

Similarly, if a die is multiheaded with two patterns arranged horizontally (i.e. 2x1), then if each stamp is perforated by the complete die, then it would be reasonable to see two patterns appearing on each stamp. To achieve this, six strikes of the die would be required to complete a row of Jubilee stamps as the sheets were arranged in twenty rows of six stamps.

However, for a 2x1 multiheaded die, judicious positioning of the row of stamps such that the vertical stamp perforations fall in line with the centre of the die would mean that just three strikes would be required to perforate all six stamps with one pattern on each stamp. One stamp would have the left-most pattern in the 2x1 multiheaded die appearing on the right-hand side of the stamp, and the right-most pattern appearing on the left-hand side of the stamp. A bit of a tongue twister I know, but this fictitious "ABC/&C^o." 2x1 multiheaded die shows the effect.

A similar phenomenon would result from a sideways die as illustrated below.

To help try and discover some of these 2x1 multiheaded dies, the orientation of the patterns, where known, has been recorded in the columns to the right of the Perfin die and Stamp details on the following pages of listings using some simple annotation {1L, 1R, 1C, 2 for upright Perfins, and 1T, 1B, 1C, 2 for sideways Perfins).

Perfin Upright	Perfin Sideways
1L, 1R, 1C, 2	1T, 1B, 1C, 2

When checking the orientation, please disregard whether or not the Perfin pierced the front or the back of the stamp, or whether or not the pattern is inverted. Simply look at the stamp from whichever side and orientation produces a readable Perfin. The only problem to be encountered is where the Perfin has an axis of symmetry, in which case view it from the punch direction.

Perfin Diagonal.

There are 191 Diagonal Perfin dies out of the 24,760 (at 1st January 2019) recorded GB Perfin dies (i.e. 0.8%), of which only 16 are known on the KGV Jubilee Issue. Treat the illustration of any diagonal Perfin as shown at the top of the stamp details pages as 'upright'.

Roy Gault (Catalogue Editor - contacts as in the Bulletin), or to Alastair Walter (Webmaster) at perfinsoc@gmail.com. Regular updates will be posted on the website.

While preparing this study, a number of examples of these 2x1 die configurations came to light, two of which can be usefully discussed.

Firstly, let us consider the above two illustrations of “C\N” (C5220.01M), a die already believed to be multiheaded. These two examples suggest the die has two patterns, in all probability 2x1. By chance the left-hand pattern (i.e. the pattern to the right of the first stamp) has a pin missing at the time of the Silver Jubilee issue, making it clearly different to the right-hand pattern shown in the second stamp.

However, all that glisten’s isn’t necessarily gold!

Above are two illustrations of “JW/&C^o” (J8420.03M) which show strikes clearly to the right and to the left of each stamp, but in both cases the same pin is missing from the “W”. Inspection of all stamps from the early 1930’s onwards for this particular die all have the same pin missing, pointing to a single headed die.

However, there are minute differences between the two strikes, for example the “C” and “o”, so these must be two discrete patterns that just so happen to have the same pin missing in one of the letters. Proof, if proof was needed, that lightening does indeed strike the same place twice!

Finally, only around 45% of the listed dies have an associated orientation recorded, so with your help in highlighting some of the others, perhaps a few more of these 2x1 dies can be found!

‘Full House’ Silver Jubilees.

Many companies who used Perfins and purchased the Silver Jubilee issue for commercial use, may well have bought some of each denomination making a set of Perfinned stamps possible. To date some 101 Perfin Dies are known where an example of each value has been reported.

Silver Jubilee Picture Gallery.

Although not mentioned in the main body of text, Perfin covers are known with Silver Jubilee stamps. One such is this 'unused' window envelope used by 'The Bournemouth & Poole Electricity Supply Co Ltd' with Perfin "BP/E" (B5760.02).

- Confirmation of the Perfin "BEM" B2460.01 on a 1½d brown with 'MOROCCO AGENCIES' overprint postmarked 'British P.O. T(angier), 10 SP 3(5)'

- Although there was no 2d value, some enterprising person celebrated the event by using two 1d Silver Jubilee stamps on a receipt, conveniently dated '31-7-35' in manuscript. 'Vineys' furniture store, established in 1897, is still trading today. Well done, Vineys of Abingdon!

King George V - 'Silver Jubilee 1910-1935' Issue.

The idea for a set of stamps commemorating King George V's twenty-five years as monarch came from the Colonial Office, along with a suggestion that an identical set be issued throughout the British Empire. After a little resistance from the Post Office, it was eventually decided that there would be four values for Great Britain - $\frac{1}{2}$ d, 1d, $1\frac{1}{2}$ d, and $2\frac{1}{2}$ d.

Designer of the chosen design

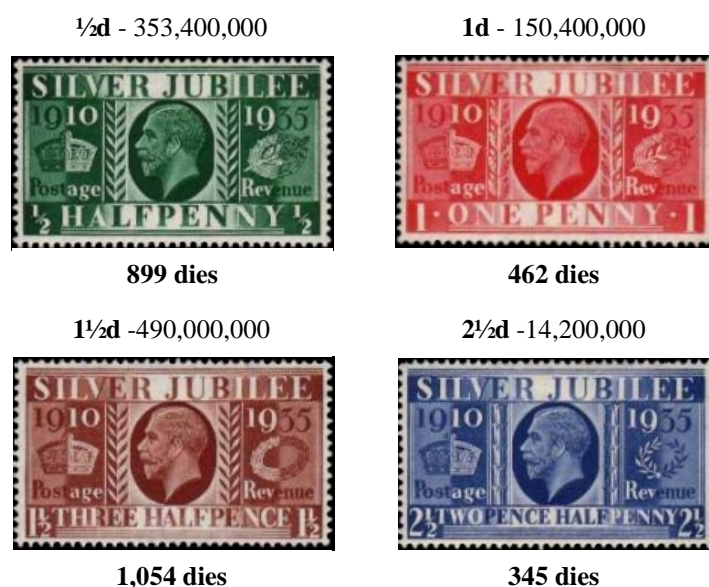

After a second round of submissions from various artists, one satisfactory design emerged, that of Barnett Freedman (1901-1958). Barnett Freedman was a painter, lithographer, illustrator, designer, and an official War Artist during WWII. In recognition of his work, he was awarded a CBE in 1947.

Printing details

The stamps were printed by Harrison & Sons in photogravure, the first 'special issue' to be produced using this technique. The stamps were printed in sheets of 120, arranged in 20 rows of six stamps. Three multipositives were used - Type I was for sheets, whereas Type II, with inverted watermark, and Type III were for booklets. All four values were issued in sheets, but only the $\frac{1}{2}$ d, 1d, and $1\frac{1}{2}$ d values appeared in booklets. Note that no account of the various Types has been made in the Perfin record, although it is highly unlikely that any booklets will have been Perfinned.

Issued date - 7th May 1935.

Quantities sold - figures (including booklet sales) are shown above each stamp.

A total of 1,436 different Perfin dies can be found on the issue, involving 2,760 DDF, of which 1,170 dies (81.5%) have identified (or suspected) users.

Perfin figures correct to 1st January 2019.
